

Possible final task for Intermediate Level (Option 1)

Student A

Directions: Choose some of these questions and read them to your partner. You should also respond with rejoinders and ask follow-up questions. Also, try to answer your partner's questions with details.

What did you buy recently?

What did you use the Internet for recently?

Where do you prefer to spend your time in your country: in a big city or quiet nature?

What were you doing a year ago?

_____ cut _____ cut _____ cut _____ cut _____

Student B

Directions: Choose some of these questions and read them to your partner. You should also respond with rejoinders and ask follow-up questions. Also, try to answer your partner's questions with details.

What time do you like to go to bed?

When you were younger, did your parents have strict rules for you?

Is it pretty easy for you to get good grades, or do you have to study hard?

What is a problem that you once had?

Do you like to use email?

Possible final task for Intermediate Level (Option 2)

Directions: During this conversation, you should ask each other follow-up questions, use rejoinders and explain your ideas with details. Also, you can change topics at any time.

Topics for conversation:

- Discuss your childhoods. In other words, talk about where you lived, what you enjoyed doing or not doing when you were a child. You can also tell about any interesting experiences that you had.
- Discuss your opinions of _____.
(this town)
- Discuss some things that you would like to change about your life.